

University Communications' Media and Public Relations team invites you to join faculty experts as they discuss a variety of topics and changes in today's political landscape.

Thursday, March 23

2:30 – 3:30 p.m.

Jepson Alumni Center, Quigg Conference Room
University of Richmond

UR's experts are able to serve as resources for breaking stories. This is an opportunity for you to hear from them and ask questions relevant to their areas of expertise. Topic areas will include legal issues, trade policy, the environment and international developments. Panelists include:

- Henry Chambers, professor of law, Richmond School of Law
- Maia Linask, assistant professor of economics, Robins School of Business
- Todd Lookingbill, chair of the Department of Geography and the Environment and associate professor of biology
- Martha Merritt, dean and Carole M. Weinstein chair of International Education

Each expert will provide brief comments on their areas and will be available to speak with reporters individually.

Parking is available in the lot adjacent to the Jepson Alumni Center. Refreshments and additional materials will be provided.

RSVP to Pryor Green, pryor.green@richmond.edu or 804.289.1945.
